

HURRICANE RIPS INTO CANADA; 77 DEAD

Claude Sanders, 48, is Fatally Injured in Mine

Eldorado Man Was Driller At Sahara No. 16

Claude E. Sanders, 48-year-old Eldorado coal miner employed at Sahara 16 west of Harrisburg, was fatally injured yesterday by a fall of coal.

Mr. Sanders, a driller, was injured at 9:30 a. m. and died at 1:30 p. m. in Ferrell hospital.

The body was moved to the Martin funeral home, where it will lie in state until time for the funeral. He was a veteran of World War II and there will be military rites at the service, to be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Eldorado Church of God. The Rev. E. W. Thomas of Norris City, a former pastor of the church, will conduct the service assisted by the church pastor, the Rev. H. G. Mushegan. Burial will be in Wolf Creek cemetery.

Mr. Sanders was a member of the Norris City Church of God and was a Sunday school teacher.

He and his wife, Minnie, resided east of the Little Egypt hotel, which is in the extreme eastern part of Eldorado.

Besides his wife he leaves his father, Walter E. Sanders, and his stepmother in W. Frankfort; three stepsons, Bobby Chastain in England, Donald Chastain in Alaska, and Billie Chastain in Carmi; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Marvin Daniel of Carmi; two brothers, Walter R. Sanders and Clyde Sanders, both of Evansville, and three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Sims and Mrs. Marian Steinberger of West Frankfort and Mrs. Martha Snedecor of Hammond, Ind.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons announced that the inquest into his death would be held at 7 p. m. Monday at the Eldorado city hall.

IPAC to Begin Distributing Food Tuesday

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Illinois Public Aid Commission distribution of surplus food in five southern Illinois counties with heavy unemployment will begin next Tuesday. Garrett W. Keaster, executive secretary of the IPAC, announced the first distribution would be in Hardin county. He said distribution of the federal surplus food will begin in Franklin, Perry, Saline and Williamson counties as fast as "drop-off points" are arranged for giving out the food.

All persons on public aid rolls are eligible for the food, being transferred to a warehouse in Johnston City from a warehouse here operated by the superintendent of public instruction.

The food includes powdered eggs, powdered milk, butter, cheese and dried beans, Keaster said. Other food items will be made available as received from the federal government, he said.

The number of persons on the five IPAC programs—general relief, old age, blindness, dependent children and disabilities—in each county are: Franklin 5,147; Hardin 483; Perry 1,094; Saline 4,165 and Williamson 4,447.

Keaster said Arnold Johnson, IPAC administrative assistant, is arranging the food distribution plan from headquarters in Marion.

Oscar Chapman, Former Cabinet Member, to Speak Here Tuesday

Oscar Chapman, former cabinet member, will be the featured speaker at a big Democratic rally at the court house, Harrisburg, Tuesday starting at 7:30 p. m., it was announced today.

Mr. Chapman was Secretary of Interior in the cabinet of former President Harry S. Truman.

Appearing also on the program will be Rep. Paul Powell, other district candidates and the Democratic candidates for county offices.

Dies at Shawneetown

Ezekiel Coy died suddenly yesterday at his home in Shawneetown. The body was moved to the Wright funeral home in Shawneetown. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Eisenhower Says GOP Program is Foundation for Enduring Farm Prosperity

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—President Eisenhower said Friday night the Republican administration has laid a "foundation of enduring prosperity" for American farmers who suffered a "serious loss of buying power" under the Democrats.

In a frank political appeal for election of a GOP Congress, the President said a government of "Republican philosophy" is necessary to perpetuate the foundation of prosperity.

Mr. Eisenhower blamed the Democratic administration of former President Harry S. Truman for bringing about "a serious loss of buying power" of the American farmer.

"In the two years before this administration took office... parity dropped 19 points," Mr. Eisenhower said.

The President spoke in Butler Fieldhouse here during a stopover visit on his way from the Summer White House at Denver to Washington. His speech, billed beforehand as "non-partisan," was broadcast nationally and televised in 15 states.

Before his speech, Mr. Eisenhower appealed to a rally of Indiana GOP leaders to "build again the flame that means good government, decent government and honest government."

"You can't have two drivers at the wheel of an automobile and expect to land anywhere but in the ditch," Mr. Eisenhower told the rally, "so we don't want one driver in the executive and one driver in the legislative."

In his speech, the President said a "steady decline in farmers' buying power took place under the old (Democratic) farm law—a law which stays in effect until the end of the current crop year."

"Yet some would have our farmers believe that in the future this law will do what it has failed to do in the past."

Mr. Eisenhower said the Democrats were able to postpone the "inevitable day of reckoning" in the American farm market because of markets created by World War II and the Korean fighting.

Now, he said, the United States has a farm program geared not to war but to peace. He said it was a program that would encourage consumption, expand markets and realistically adjust farm production.

The President said the flexible price supports in the controversial new farm program were "absolutely essential."

The supports were, however, Mr. Eisenhower said, only one of many steps "essential to a prosperous agriculture."

He cited 15 accomplishments of the 83rd Congress which he said combined to build a stable foundation of prosperity.

Among the accomplishments, the President listed a law providing for disposal of a billion dollars worth of American farm surpluses in foreign markets, new Social Security and tax benefits for farmers, a new grain storage program and new incentives to wool growers.

Struna: Final Goal of Russia Is Not A-Bomb, But Economic Destruction of America

By FRED ARMISTEAD

"We can't come to an understanding with Russia. It is impossible," declared Dr. Richard Struna at the Saline County Teachers' meeting yesterday at the Junior high school. Dr. Struna, physician and industrialist, was born in Czechoslovakia, but is now an American citizen. He learned about Russia the hard way, for after his capture in World War I in which he served as an officer in the Austrian army, he spent many years in various Russian prison camps.

He gave a vivid comparison of life for the Russian common soldier under the Czars who did not permit him to live in cities, but in tents outside the limits of the municipalities. Neither was he permitted to walk on the sidewalks, sit in the parks, nor eat in the restaurants. Dr. Struna was astonished later in America to hear a private argue with a colonel over certain train reservations. He observed that in Russia the private would have ridden in a boxcar with the Pullman accommodations reserved for the officer. If the private had argued with a colonel, it would have been the private's last argument. He commented on the immaturity of the Russian soldiers who served Stalin, as they rode scooters, with children and traded a dozen wrist watches for one clock that would alarm.

Children belong to State

"Communism destroys your way of clean, sound thinking," continued Dr. Struna. "There is no decency. Any means to an end is all right. A Communist does not believe in God, and children belong to the State. The parents do not decide if their child is to become a teacher or a barber and even to express an opinion means the concentration camp."

In Russia if you work a whole lifetime you cannot earn enough to buy furniture for one room. The final goal of Russia is not the use of the A-bomb, but the economic destruction of America through unemployment with men walking the streets looking for work. Communism promises you big things, and Socialism is only five minutes from Communism. You are living in the greatest country in the world with the finest liberty, but no one knows it until he loses it," concluded the speaker.

Use New Pledge

Bernice Clifton, author of "Sight Unseen," a book recently briefed in Reader's Digest, substituted for Rear Admiral Benton W. Decker who was called to the West Coast. Blind for sixteen years, Miss Clifton emphasized common misconceptions concerning the handicapped. "Physical blindness does not necessarily denote mental blindness anymore than a physical cripple is a mental cripple," stated this authority.

The meeting was under the direction of County Superintendent of Schools R. Dale Wilson. The new Pledge of Allegiance, adding "under God" to the original was used for the first time at the county meeting, led by Girl Scouts Mary Jane Damron and Linda Woodruff.

Non-Political Meeting Tonight On Blue Ballot

The public is invited to the court house at 7:30 tonight to hear a discussion on the proposed redistricting of legislative districts in Illinois, to be voted on at the general election November 2.

Paul Powell, Democratic representative from the 51st District, will make the principal speech, with Representatives Gordon Kerr of Brookport and W. O. Verhines of Vienna, Republicans, to speak also.

The meeting will be non-political, but due to the increased interest in politics because of the approach of election, candidates for local and district offices from both political parties have been invited to attend and will be introduced.

There will be special entertainment.

Representative Powell has been especially active against the acceptance of the proposed district changes, on the basis that the proposed change would give Cook county full control over one house of the Illinois General Assembly. He has appeared on the Champaign television station, took part in a debate at Decatur September 16th, and is scheduled to speak in a debate before the Sangamon County Bar association next Monday.

Accident Caused By Pranksters

Pranksters were responsible for an accident early today that could have been tragic.

They had rolled an automobile from a farm yard on Route 142 near Route 13 near Equality onto the highway and left it there. A group of young people, travelling west on Route 142 in the rain, came up on the auto and the driver slammed on the car brakes in an effort to avoid hitting it.

Because of the slippery road, the car overturned. Nobody was hurt, however.

Names of the group in the car were not learned.

51 Are Killed Along Eastern U. S. Seaboard

Thousands Left Homeless Along 750-Mile Path

TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—Hazel the killer hurricane stabbed into the heart of Canada today, blazing a new trail of destruction and boosting the death toll over the 75 mark.

Hazel, the eighth tropical storm of the season, had taken at least 77 lives and was still raging. In its wake along the Eastern Seaboard of the United States were at least 51 dead. Five were known dead in Canada, where others were feared drowned or trapped by swollen rivers.

Spawned near the tropical Windward Islands, it accounted for at least 21 deaths in the Republic of Haiti before smashing into the U. S. mainland Friday, leaving a grim path of destruction extending to frigid Hudson Bay.

Along the East Coast of the United States thousands were left homeless in Hazel's 750-mile path. Entire cities were left without electric power and communications were disrupted. Surging seas isolated some coastal areas from the mainland.

Some of the hurricane's victims were killed by falling trees. Others were electrocuted by fallen wires while others drowned as the fierce storm sped northward.

City Gears for Disaster

Toronto mobilized for possibly the worst disaster of its history.

More than seven inches of rain fell on the Toronto area in 24 hours, turning the Humber and Don rivers into angry torrents that swept away houses and automobiles like toys.

"There are plenty missing—we can't tell how many," a police spokesman in the suburb of Weston said. He said no bodies had been recovered but added, "We may never recover them."

Thousands of families were fleeing their homes in this area as streets were turned into swift-flowing canals in Toronto, Hamilton, Brampton, Markham and Aurora. Dykes broke in the Holland Marsh area and tons of water cascaded into homes being evacuated.

Residents of Grand Valley, trapped by the overflowing Grand river, took refuge in the second floors of their homes awaiting rescue.

Hazel, with her destructive sisters Carol and Edna, already has made 1954 one of the worst hurricane years on record in the United States.

Described as the "most erratic hurricane in history" by weather experts, the storm first threatened ship lanes in the Caribbean Sea 11 days ago. It suddenly reversed its field and slugged the eastern tip of Haiti Tuesday, destroying whole towns and villages.

Then the howler lunged northward, plowed across the Atlantic and struck the U. S. coastline near Myrtle Beach, S. C., at about 9:30 a. m. Friday.

Speeds 50 MPH
By the time Hazel was bowling across eight states it had picked up a forward velocity of 50 miles an hour. Its circular winds were recorded at 100 miles an hour when it sped past New York City.

Miley Calls Strategy Meeting of GOP County Chairmen

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Republican County Chairmen from throughout Illinois will meet for a pre-election strategy session Tuesday, Oct. 19, at noon, in the Leland Hotel, Springfield. The meeting has been called by Robert G. Miley, Galatia, President of the Republican County Chairmen's Association of Illinois.

Invited to attend the luncheon meeting, in addition to the Republican County Chairmen, are Governor William G. Stratton, Senator Everett M. Dirksen, elected State Officers, Republican State Candidates, and Directors of Governor Stratton's Code Departments.

Miley said, in his invitation to the county chairmen, "You will gain valuable and vital information which will be beneficial to all of us as county chairmen—campaign information and policies that can be applied favorably at the precinct level."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son.—John 3:16.

We cannot explore the heart of the Infinite, but one reason why an earthly parent loves his children so dearly is because he sacrifices for them. The wisest mortal has not been able to explore the majesty of God's love, it is infinite.

Proper Disposal of Dead Animals Prevents Outbreaks of Disease

If you have a disease problem on your farm, you can help to prevent its spread or outbreaks of a new disease if you will dispose of dead animals properly.

In fact, the state law requires that you burn, bury or have them hauled off by a licensed rendering company, says Dr. D. A. Willigan, University of Illinois veterinarian. If you decide to bury the animal, dig a six-foot hole as close to the carcass as possible. Roll the carcass into the hole, and cover it with a layer of lime. Then throw in the dirt from the ground where the animal was lying. This dirt often contains disease germs that other animals will pick up. Finally, fill the hole with clean soil.

The easiest way to burn dead carcasses is to cover them with oil. Add a layer of straw and finally a layer of heavy, fairly dry manure. Always wear rubber gloves and boots when you handle dead animals—they may have had an infectious disease. To prevent the spread of germs, move the carcass as little as possible. Wash and boil your clothing before you wear it again.

Soils Losing Ability to Soak Up Water

Changes in the physical condition and fertility of your soils may take place slowly, but even "good soils" can be exhausted or worn out.

R. S. Stauffer, professor of soil physics at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture says these gradual changes mean that you can't afford to neglect your soil management. The care you give your soil now will largely determine what it will be like in the future.

One of these changes in soils is the gradual loss of ability to soak up water during a hard rain. An experiment set up at the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station at Urbana more than 50 years ago shows that most soils can't soak up as much water after continued cultivation as they did when they were first cultivated.

In this test two four-year crop rotations were established, and the soils were checked against soil that remained in grass sod for the entire period. One rotation consisted of corn, oats, clover and wheat, and the other of corn, corn and soybeans. For both rotations, all crop residues were returned to the land, but no lime or fertilizer was applied.

Neither rotation maintained soil structure as well as the sod. The clover rotation, however, did a better job than the corn rotation. Greatest difference came in the percolation rate—or the rate at which soil permits water to pass through it.

The corn rotation had a percolation rate of 0.2 inch per hour. This means that water enters the soil so slowly that much of the rain runs off. This water washes away the soil, or it may wind up as a large pond.

Soil on the clover plot absorbed 3.2 inches of water per hour. This is fast enough to permit no runoff except during heaviest rains. Grass sod, however, could absorb water at the rate of 8.4 inches an hour, or more than twice as fast as the clover sod.

This difference in rates at which the soil absorbs water is largely a result of the structure of the surface soil. For example, soil in the grass sod plot contained more organic matter by weight than the other plots.

In addition, large pores or air spaces made up a higher percentage of soil volume in the grass sod. The clover rotation rated ahead of the corn rotation in both percentage of organic matter and volume of air space.

These tests show that grass and legume sod crops promote good soil tilth. They will keep the soil in a desirable physical condition and also help to maintain fertility if they are included in the rotation often enough.

Other practices for maintaining soil tilth have been suggested, says Stauffer. These, however, are still in experimental stages and may or may not do the job. A good crop rotation is still the best way to maintain soil tilth on your farm.

FALL "ODD JOBS"

A dry fall, if you have one, is a good time to fix ponds, improve drainage and sow reed canary grass in marshy spots, reminds Capper's Farmer. But don't move regular field crops into low land. It will rain again!

Starting a New Lawn? It Takes More Than Scattering Seed in the Yard

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Starting a good new lawn requires more than scattering a mixture of grass seed on the yard, says Dr. Lowell R. Tucker, Southern Illinois University Agriculture department horticulturist.

The best seeding time may be in the fall—September or October—or in late winter—February or early March.

Quite often the home owner has little more than subsoil left on the yard because of grading or from digging a basement. To get a good lawn—a vigorous crop of plants covering all areas—requires some know-how, work, and expense. The best practice is to treat the whole area as if it were poor soil, Tucker says.

He advocates these steps:

1. Establish the proper slope for the lawn so that drainage is away from all buildings.
2. Add plenty of fertilizer—five pounds or more of 3-12-12 commercial fertilizer per 100 square feet—depending on the general fertility. Organic matter is beneficial for soil conditioning and for preventing erosion. Manure is excellent but may cause an undesirable odor and introduce weeds and parasites. Straw, leaves, or sawdust may be used if extra nitrogen is added. If clover is included in the grass mixture, add 20 pounds of agricultural limestone per 100 square feet.
3. Work the ground into a fine condition, mixing the fertilizer well into the soil, and compact it with a lawn roller or other tool.
4. Scatter seed either by hand or with a seeder. A good lawn mixture for southern Illinois is Kentucky bluegrass and white Dutch clover applied at the rate of one or two ounces of each per 100 square feet. If the lawn is mostly subsoil, include two to four ounces of lespedeza. Divide the seed and distribute one portion lengthwise and the other crosswise to obtain even distribution.
5. Rake seed in lightly and hope for a rainy spell. If rain does not come, sprinkle the lawn generously each day for a week. Sprinkling may be reduced to twice the second week.

Proper care the first year is important. Do not mow the young seedling until it is as high as a lawnmower will take. Cut fairly high and leave clippings on the grass as a mulch to protect young plants and keep up fertility. Early predominance of legumes will give way later to dominance by bluegrass.

Damaged Pastures Can Be Revitalized

Many southern Illinois pastures were badly burned during this summer's drought period; and because of this, little feed value was obtained from them.

As the result of recent rains in many areas, however, these pastures have begun to grow again. And efficient farmers will certainly boost the production of their regrowing pasture land by supplying growth stimulating and growth supporting plant foods.

Those farmers who apply 100 to 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre will speed the recovery and increase the yield of their livestock feed producing pastures.

T.V.A. 33.5% ammonium nitrate for top dressing pastures is available from the Twin County Service Company.

HOGGING THE BIRTH NOTICES—Quintuplet parents have to take a back seat to this proud mother, shown with her 22 offspring born last week on the Alfred Henderson farm near Canton. Hog raiser Henderson was quite satisfied when the young Duroc gave birth to an even dozen pigs, but these were followed with the arrival of ten more three days later, making a total about three times a normal litter. Henderson commented that he's been feeding a special supplement called "Pig Popper" and that this "old gal takes her popping quite seriously". (International News Photo)

XXI
Over the fireplace mantel was a glass-fronted case about four feet long. It held a willow branch, tapering from the thickness of a man's thumb to a splintered, fragile end. The wand was old now, dried to a delicate gray, had the same inoffensiveness as an antique musket which held at one time the power of life and death. A polished brass plate reading, "The Carlson Conscience," was screwed to the wood of the case. Smaller letters were more difficult to read. The heat of the fire was intense as Jim moved around close enough to make out, "Spare not the rod, and fear God."

Mrs. Hilton smiled as Jim turned and moved to a more comfortable position. She nodded toward the case, said, "Grandfather's. My husband's grandfather, that is. An old-fashioned idea of what to do that was handed down intact to Hilton's father. Not the original switch, of course. That's sacred. Even though we moved it up here to the summer lodge years ago, where it wouldn't be seen so much."

Jim said, "Out of sight, out of mind?"
"You mean the switch or our conscience? But it doesn't matter. Your statement isn't true. I'll never forget the nightmares my dead husband used to have about that switch." She closed her eyes and licked her lips again. "It's strange, but those nightmares are about all I can remember about Hilton."

Sheriff Agnes said, "We want to talk to you, if you'll stop making a holy show of yourself."
Mrs. Hilton's languor vanished in sudden motion. Muscles moved smoothly under the brown satin of her skin as the housecoat flared away from her body in the little violence. One second she was relaxed on the couch. The next she had pounced across the space between her and Agnes Argyle, had delivered an open-handed slap across the sheriff's cheek and mouth.

For a moment Jim thought he was going to witness another battle between two women. He remembered Agnes's comments on Miss Wister, on what had been called the Carlson temper, and he realized now the "temper" sprang from the fact that with the shelter of Carlson prestige and money, there was no need for the usual control.

The fierce glare died away in Mrs. Hilton's eyes. She returned to her former position on the couch, each movement a thing of grace and of invitation. She laughed.

Agnes Argyle had not moved. The handprint showed clearly against her weathered cheek.
Mrs. Hilton said, "Hand me my drink, will you, Mr. Dunn? Thanks." She sipped, looked at the sheriff. "I wish you'd move away, Aggie. I'd much rather look at this handsome Mr. Jim Dunn than you."

Jim felt his face freeze into a mask. He thought for a moment of telling Mrs. Hilton she should use a towel to lay it on that cheek. He said instead, "It isn't my fatal beauty, Mrs. Hilton. Complete cooperation, that's what you want, isn't it?"

Agnes made a croaking sound which might have been a chuckle. "Mrs. Oswald said to tell you you were stupid."

Mrs. Hilton looked up at Jim again. The smile on her lips did not cover the blaze of rage which touched her eyes. She yawned then. "Brains can be a hindrance in many ways." She recited in a monotone the exact story Philip and Mrs. Oswald had told.

Mrs. Kit sat up in bed, sipping coffee while Mrs. Gelstrap hovered around fussing. She pushed the cup at the fat cook irritably when Jim and Agnes came into the bedroom.

It seemed to Jim a good time to speak before she worked herself over the borderline into the full clutches of the unreasonable fear she so obviously felt.

"Mrs. Hilton was trying to break up your marriage?"
"Is trying," she said listlessly. "But Peter—my husband—loves me."

Dorrisville Social Brethren Royal Daughters Class Meets

The Royal Daughters class of the Dorrisville Social Brethren church held its monthly meeting in the lower rooms of the church. Several were masked for a Halloween party.

The business session opened with singing "What a Friend" and with prayer by Ella Mitchell. Scripture reading was from the 9th chapter of St. Matthew by Eula Pinchoff. Roll call was answered by scripture verse.

New officers were elected as follows: President, Essie Souheaver; vice president, Nancy Blue; secretary and treasurer, Gertrude Cook, and reporter, Golda Dunn.

The session was closed with prayer by Rose Morse.

A social hour was enjoyed with entertainment by Nancy Blue, Carrie Randolph and Pauline Durfee. Those who received prizes were Ella Mitchell, Janie Threet, Frankie Moore, Alta Dixon, Christina Evans and Golda Dunn.

Refreshments were served to those mentioned and to the following: Marie Sullivan, Georgia Dempsey, Nellie Wright, Lois Wright, Etta Stafford, Dorris Sullivan and Donna Bennett.

High School Home Bureau Meets With Mrs. Clyde Pittman
The High School Home Bureau met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clyde Pittman with Mrs. Freeman Dempsey serving as assistant hostess.

Fifteen members and four guests attended. The guests were Mrs. Edith McCormack, Mrs. Gladys Ewell, Mrs. Ownley Furman, and Mrs. Mary Harper, home adviser. Mrs. Furman has been a past member and she rejoined the unit Tuesday night.

Mrs. Mary Harper gave the major topic on "New food products available on today's market." These products she stressed may have a time economy involved if not as economically priced, as the same product in a form taking longer to prepare.

The minor topic was given by Mrs. Dorothy Stricklin, "Garnishes for Meats." She showed how they could have eye appeal, taste appeal, be decorative and eatable.

Refreshments of gingerbread and coffee were served.

Miss Lucille Lee during recreation gave six trick-or-treat prizes.

First Baptist Erma Franks Circle Meets

The Erma Franks circle of the First Baptist church met for the October session at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Stella McNulty.

Officers were elected for the new year and plans were made for the circle meetings to be held the second Tuesday of each month.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Alma Riegel.

Roll call was answered with a favorite scripture, and Mrs. Velma Burnett led in the closing prayer.

Mrs. Walter Gaskins, Pueblo, Col., is in Harrisburg to visit her son, John R. Jackson, and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaskins.

Will Not Hesitate To Hike Taxes for Schools: Stratton

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton said Friday he "would not hesitate" to raise taxes if an increase was needed to prevent crippling of schools.

Stratton spoke at a meeting of the Lake Shore division of the Illinois Education Assn. at Northwestern University.

"Although we take pride in keeping taxes down, if it became necessary for me to choose between crippling the educational system and raising taxes, I would not hesitate to raise taxes," Stratton said.

The state has guaranteed a minimum expenditure of $173 per pupil in a public school.

However, because of increased enrollments, the appropriated money supplies only 98 per cent of the $173 figure, and the percentage is expected to drop to 90 or lower in January.

The state aid fund for schools now has a six-million-dollar deficit in unpaid claims.

Earlier Friday, State Finance Director Morton H. Hollingsworth told the Illinois Chamber of Commerce in Chicago that "enormous pressure" is building up for more state aid for schools.

"More local effort and increased state aid appear inevitable," he said.

Hollingsworth suggested that the formula of school aid distribution may have to be changed to require higher local taxes in order to qualify for state aid.

Stratton also said the 1955 Legislature will attempt to work out a formula to prevent further deficits. He said he will ask the Legislature to make the Navy Pier branch of the University of Illinois a four-year college, instead of a two-year school.

Stratton said he will ask the Legislature also for more funds to increase facilities at Southern Illinois University and at state teachers' colleges.

Articles Tell of Progress in Mentally Handicapped Program

In the Oct. 18 issue of Life magazine the first half of a two-part essay, entitled "Retarded Children Progress on a Problem for a Million Families," will be presented.

Part I presents the problem as it exists today. For the first time actual pictures of mentally retarded children and their families with full names will be used. Part 2, which will be in Life's Oct. 25 issue, will show that retarded children are not hopeless. Given proper training 75 per cent of them would become useful members of the community today, however, they are almost totally ignored.

Life will also report on the great grass root movement of parents groups now coming to grip with the problem, building schools, starting sheltered workshops, treading the stigma which ignorance has attached to mental retardation.

In this two-part essay one may see case histories of mentally retarded children in public institutions and at home, and how the national association for retarded children is making great stride in solving this enormous problem.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of W. A. Atkinson, who passed away Oct. 17, 1953:
Little we knew with dawn that morn,
The blow was hard, the shock severe.
We little thought the end was near.

If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more;
To see your smiling face again,
Come shining through the door.
Sometimes it is hard to understand.

Why some things have to be,
But in His wisdom God had planned
Beyond our power to see.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And Courage to meet the blow.
But what it meant to lose you.
This world will never know.
The beautiful things you did for us,
Live in our hearts each day.
And keep you near and dear to us,
Though you have passed away.

Sadly missed by wife, Pearl, and children and grandchildren. 94-1

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mamie Chamberlain, who passed away, Oct. 16, 1953. She has taken her last journey. On a beautiful ship called rest. Away from this world of sorrow. To a land of peace and rest. God saw when her footsteps faltered.

When her heart grew weak and faint,
He marked when her strength was failing,
And listened to each complaint.
Then He bade her rest forever.
For the pathway had grown too steep.

So He touched her eyes with His gentle hand
And our loved one went to sleep.
Sadly missed by children, Virginia, Thelma and John. 94-1

Car-Train Crash Kills Six Young People; Two Hurt

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (UP) — Two teenagers who survived a car-train collision which killed six companions were reported in serious condition today.

Five of the youths were killed instantly when their car and the Great Northern Railroad's "Winnipeg Special" passenger train collided Friday night on the outskirts of the city. The sixth victim died en route to a hospital.

The young people, all between 15 and 16 years old, were on the way home from a high school football game when the crash occurred.

The dead were identified as Sharon Roeder, Nancy Minars and Janice Johnson, driver of the car, all of St. Cloud; William Ehl, Duluth; Shirley Henkneyer, Sartell; and Larry Stopman, Armoth, N. D.

The two who survived were James Johnson, brother of Janice, and Ralph Mahowald, Grand Forks, N. D.

Admitted to St. Mary's hospital, the two survivors were in good condition. The car was a 1951 Ford, owned by the father of one of the dead.

Arthur Shay, 40, admitted killing his fourth wife, Gale, 34, with a kitchen knife during a quarrel in their home Friday, police said.

Shay told police he stabbed his wife, the mother of four children by a previous marriage, when she refused to give him the car keys because he had been drinking and then hit him with a baseball bat.

Shay, who lives at 1415 W. 12th St., was arrested after a search of his home by police.

His wife was found dead in a rooming house near the home.

Shay was charged with first-degree murder.

He was held in the St. Mary's hospital.

Shay was married to Gale for 12 years.

They had four children, three sons and one daughter.

Mt. Carmel Suffers First Loss of Season; Mt. Vernon Trounces West Frankfort

SPRINGFIELD — Foes dealt Pekin, Pontiac, Hillsboro, Mendota and Mt. Carmel their first losses of the 1954 Illinois prep football campaign Friday night.

Centralia, Charleston, Chenoa, Elgin, Aurora East, Wheaton, Macomb, Urbana, Charleston Eastern and Onarga were among the unbeaten, unified teams that kept their records unblemished.

Pekin fell 7-0 before Peoria Manual in a contest counting toward both the Big 12 and Greater Peoria league standings.

Pontiac suffered a 12-7 defeat at the hands of Normal.

Shelbyville's Bob Tynan scored a third quarter touchdown on a five-yard run for a 12-6 triumph over Hillsboro. It was Shelbyville's fifth straight win and puts it in the driver's seat in the southwest division of the North Central circuit.

Earl Howe ran 10 and 67 yards for scores and Ed Perry grabbed a pass on another 24-yard scoring play to give Salem a 21-13 victory over Mount Carmel. Butch Knowles got both Mount Carmel scores in the first half.

Mendota's Trojans were stunned by a 19-0 loss to Rochelle in the Rochelle homecoming game, a contest Mendota hoped to win to count toward the lead in the southwest division of the North Central conference.

Centralia Whips Harrisburg
Centralia clicked off its fifth straight, bowing over Harrisburg in a key South Seven conference game, 30-6. Mount Vernon blanked West Frankfort 21-0 and Pinckneyville downed Elkhart 19-6.

Forrest, the last team to beat Chenoa, failed in an attempt to snap the Redbirds' winning streak, losing 19-0. It was the 18th consecutive victory for Chenoa, unstoped in two years.

Elgin and Aurora East remained on the victory path to continue in a deadlock for the Big Eight lead. Elgin knocked Aurora West out of a first place tie with a 20-6 defeat.

Freeport, unable to win in more than a score of games, managed to hold Rockford East to a scoreless tie.

Wheaton, unstoped during 1953 season, rolled along with its 15th consecutive 1954 win by a 19-7 margin over Leyden.

Murphyboro bounced back from its loss to Centralia to hand Belleville a 19-6 loss Friday night. Alton licked Granite City 14-7.

Decatur Leads Big 12
Decatur edged into sole command of first place in the Big 12 by walloping Springfield 21-0. Urbana, victorious over Danville Schlarmann in a non-conference game, dropped into a second place tie with Peoria Manual, the winner over Pekin.

Champaign and Peoria Central launched their Big 12 schedules with wins to share third place honors. Champaign stopped Danville 19-12 and Central disposed of Streator 23-0.

Charleston and Charleston Eastern kept matching win for win, Charleston smothering Marshall 34-0 and Eastern Illinois league, however, since Eastern's was a non-conference match.

Macomb scored at will in whipping cellar-dwelling Havana in the Midwest conference 39-0 to tighten its grip on first place. Onarga stayed unbeaten and untied, beating Cullom easily 33-0.

Lawrenceville took advantage of Mount Carmel's loss to Salem by taking over first place in the North Egypt conference with a 21-14 defeat of Flora. Mount Carmel tumbled all the way from first to third, behind Salem.

Roy Mack Wins Fight to Keep A's in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — Roy Mack appeared today to have won the battle to keep his father's beloved Athletics in Philadelphia.

The amazing turnaround, blocking the A's already approved shift to Kansas City, seemed set when 10 Philadelphia businessmen raised $3,750,000 which more than matched the $3,375,000 offer made by Chicago realtor Arnold Johnson. Johnson is seeking to move the franchise to Kansas City.

No final decision in the confusing financial situation will be announced until Monday but a member of the Philadelphia businessmen's group said "the money already is in the till." Another source close to the Mack family said the deal probably would have been closed Friday but for Roy's insistence on a five-year contract in an official capacity when the club changed hands.

Under the new setup, which is expected to be announced on Monday, 92-year-old Connie and Earle would be bought out with Roy retaining an interest and an official position in the front office. Roy is scheduled to notify President Will Harridge of the American league on Monday.

A thoroughly confused Johnson, meanwhile, said he still thought the team should be moved to Kansas City and also revealed he had offered Roy Mack "a substantial five-year contract" to stay with the club.

For two long and exasperating years the coach had worked on the young giant who had come to the campus as a freshman hailed as one of the really great tackle prospects.

The results had been just about zero. The boy had everything — size, speed, strength — but he never could parlay them into stardom.

Now it was the lad's senior year and the coach decided there was one chance left. If he could make the kid make it, it might help.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself," he snarled into his ear on the opening day of practice. "With what you've got, there's nothing you shouldn't be able to do on a football field. Why, if I had your size I'd have been the heavyweight champion of the world."

A grin spread slowly over the tackle's face.

"Yeah," he replied, softly, "well, what stopped you from being the flyweight champion?"

Basilio Wins East 10-Round Bout from Gronik

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Top welterweight contender Carmen Basilio, who nearly goose-egged Allie Gronik Friday night, said confidently today, "They've promised me the next shot at the title, and I'm promising right now I'll be the new champion."

Hatchet-faced Basilio of nearby Canastota, N. Y., was so elated at his easy victory over rugged Gronik of Detroit, he declared: "I'm just reaching my peak now. I'm a lot stronger than when I fought Kid Gavilan for the title in September, 1953."

Fiercy Carmen gave a most impressive performance while winning the lop-sided 10-round decision over rangy, black-haired Gronik in War Memorial Auditorium. And while Carmen was trying to belt Allie's head off with rapid-fire hooking combinations of rights to the body and lefts to the head, Hurricane Hazel was striving thunderously to tear the roof off the Auditorium.

A few hours before Basilio entered the ring, a Syracuse meeting of the New York State Boxing Commission promised him that a

Don Liddle to Hurl Against Locals Sunday

Charley Griffiths Will Pitch for Harrisburg Stars

Weather permitting, Don Liddle, the curve ball throwing left hander from Mt. Carmel who spent the past season in the livery of the World Champion New York Giants, will be in Harrisburg Sunday afternoon to pitch an exhibition game against the Harrisburg Stars. Liddle, who won 9 and lost 4 over the season for the Giants, captured the finale of the New Yorkers' four game sweep over the Cleveland Indians in the recent world series. Liddle will hurl here for the Mt. Carmel Aces, a hustling young club from his home town.

Charley Griffiths, a rangy right hander who hails from Wason, will be Liddle's mound opponent. Griffiths spent the past season with the Atlanta Crackers and Toledo Mudhens of the Southern and American association respectively. He compiled a 22 win, 11 loss record with both clubs during the year.

Griffiths gave a preview of his pitching talents here Sunday afternoon as he whiffed five batters in two innings in the game between the Youngsters and Oldsters.

Harrisburg will field a team composed of players from the local Merchants and Nash teams. Among the players who will see action are the following: Fred Williams, Donnie Wilson, Merle Dailey, Clifford Parker, Buzz Kennedy, Dick Romanosky, Jim Parton, Floyd Shewmake, Harold Guley, Dick Odle, Ron Ziegler, Don Karnes, Frank Logston, Bill McNew, Ken Nolen, Don Wallace, Jack Nolen, Carl Harrison, and Ray Sisky. Gene Stone and Jim Hay will set in the capacity of player-coaches, and Charley Nelson will act as manager. Henry Winkelman is slated for the behind the plate umpiring job.

Proceeds from this game will go towards building the new enclosed ball park planned by local ball players and fans. Tickets are available at Henry's Typewriter Service or from players, coaches or manager.

The game is slated to get underway at 2 p. m.

Sugar Robinson to Attempt Comeback Aimed at Olson Match

Carmi Trounces Eldorado's Eagles, 34-0

Hard-Running, Nice Passing Attack Good for Five TDs

The Carmi Bull Dogs lived up to their advance billing as one of southern Illinois' better ball clubs last night by trouncing the Eldorado Eagles 34 to 0. The game was played on the Eagles' field. The result left Carmi with a record of four victories and one loss, and Eldorado's second loss in five starts.

Carmi mixed a hard-running ground game with a nice passing attack to score five touchdowns, and four extra points, the highest point-total against Eldorado this season. During this time the defense was also working well, and the Eagles were held scoreless, in fact the Eagles were able to advance across midfield on very few occasions and never threatened to score.

The opening quarter was Eldorado's best and any advantage favored the Eagles, who accounted for three first downs to Carmi's two. From there, it was all Carmi. Score 14-0 at Half.

The Bull Dogs counted two TDs in the second and third quarters and one in the fourth.

They began their scoring shortly after the start of the second frame. The two teams had battled on fairly even terms in the opening period and as the second quarter got underway it was Eldorado's ball on about their own 40.

On fourth down and a yard to go Eldorado gambled on a line play and lost. Carmi took over and scored in six plays. Mitchell and Williams, a couple of fine running backs, alternated carrying, with Williams going for the TD on a hard sprint around his right end. Mitchell circled the other end for the point.

Carmi scored again in a hurry. Following the kickoff, Eldorado fumbled on their third play from scrimmage, Carmi recovering on the Eagle 35. This time Mitchell cracked over for the TD and followed with another run through the line for the point and the score read Carmi 14, Eldorado 0. There was no more scoring in the first half.

70-Yard TD Play
Early in the third quarter an Eldorado fumble was recovered on the 40 and nine plays later Mitchell went across for a TD. A couple of short passes were mixed in with the ground attack to keep Carmi rolling in this scoring drive.

Eldorado punted on fourth down after taking the kickoff and Carmi had the ball on their own 15. A 15-yard penalty moved the ball back to the Bull Dog 30. Then Sexton, Carmi co-captain and end, got behind the Eagle secondary, gathered in a long pass from quarterback Winter and went all the way for a TD. The play covered 70 yards. The extra point try failed.

Midway in the final frame Smith, a reserve halfback, scored the fifth Carmi TD on a two-yard smash through center and Winger plunged for the point.

Homecoming Next Week
Eldorado's running game looked good on occasions, with Potts showing up well on slashes through the center, but fumbles plus a hard-charging Carmi line, kept the Eagles from ever getting a scoring drive underway. The passing game was way off. It just wasn't Eldorado's night.

Early in the fourth quarter, Vogel, big tackle and fullback, went into the backfield and picked up 18 yards in two efforts. He also pushed his way along for about 20 yards another time, but it was nullified by a penalty.

Next Friday is homecoming at Eldorado with the West Frankfort Red Birds the opponent.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS
TUCSON—(NEA)—Dalton Cole, Arizona quarterback, plans to enter his father's business and become a mortician.

Mason Tosses Three Long TD Passes, Romps 70 Yards for Final Tally

Raw, rainy elements and Orphan beanpole Robert Joseph Mason last night combined to dampen the annual HTHS Homecoming football game, dropped by the local Bull Dogs to Centralia, 30 to 6.

The Bull Dogs did an excellent job of containing the highly-rated Orphans on the ground, but Mason, from his halfback post, tossed the ball for three long touchdowns and on the last play of the game romped 70 yards for a tally after Bull Dog reserves had taken over the field.

The Harrisburg score came in the final quarter on a two-yard push by quarterback Charles Polk after a magnificent power drive down the field for 80 yards in which five first downs were racked up. By the time the locals had scored, about one-fourth the people who were on hand at the start of the contest were still there. Rain which started in the first quarter continued throughout the game.

Fail to Stop Passes
The Bull Dog players showed lots of aggression during the contest, both on offense and defense, but it could not stop the Mason passes to the fleet Centralia backs. Bobby Joe threw seven aeriels, five of them connected for 192 yards, and the last two he tossed were intercepted by local defensemen.

The statistics show that Harrisburg made nine first downs to eight for Centralia, gained 102 net yards rushing to but a paltry 28 for the Orphans, and connected with four of eight passes for 34 yards to five out of seven for 192 yards for the opposition.

Although the rain came down, the field was in very good shape with few fumbles and no slipping around by the players.

So spirited was the play of the Bull Dogs at the outset, Centralia had a minus nine yards gained at the time Mason tossed to Billy Norwood for a 53-yard scoring play in the first period. A place kick for extra point failed.

Half Time Score 18-0
Centralia made its second touchdown in the second quarter, starting on the H-35. After a couple of gains that amounted to 17 yards, a 15-yard penalty against the locals put the ball on the three. Larry McCreavey made two to the one and Norwood smashed over for the touchdown. Again the kick was no good, and the score was 18 to 0.

That ended the first half scoring but in the third period Mason passed to Paul Ritter, halfback, for a 42-yard scoring play. A run for extra point failed.

In this same period Mason passed to Norwood for a 61-yard scoring play to make the count 24 to 0. After Jack Wright intercepted a Mason pass in the end zone to give the locals the ball on the H-20, the Bull Dogs started their march to score in the final period. Beal went

A Little Bit of Heaven

Look into her eyes. I see a little bit of Heaven there.
Look into her eyes. I see no anguish, no worry, no fear of what tomorrow will bring. I see faith, pure and shining.
Look into her eyes. I see the peace our world longs for. I see joy and happiness. I see God's hand upon her.
Look into her eyes. I see love and trust and hope. I see a child of God.
O little child, I look into those eyes, and I hear our Lord say: "Unless you become as little children you shall not enter into the Kingdom of God."
Let us go to Church this Sunday. Let us pray for child-like faith. Let us bring a little bit of Heaven to our world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'The Way of Wisdom'

Proverbs 3 and 4
GOLDEN TEXT: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." (Proverbs 3:5-6)

INTRODUCTION — Many impressions are made upon our minds daily, and these impressions are transferred to our memories. Evil thoughts, false notions, frivolous thoughts and corrupt images, once harbored, become a part of our very being. All these thoughts alter our character accordingly. It is most important that we guard our memories from such things, and to fill them with more worthy stores.

I. THE TREASURY (Prov. 3:1-4)
The heart is the treasury. In it one stores up treasures. It is not enough just to hear the Bible read. We must store up knowledge from it. The Bible is good for us lives as we let it influence our lives. The Law, carved on tables of stone, locked in the Ark and hidden behind the curtains of the sanctuary, could do the children of Israel little good. It is needed to be written on the fleshly tables of the heart.

We need a clear understanding of the Word of God, so that it comes to us, not in a mere string of words, but as clear ideas. We need to have a good memory of it. We need a love of God's Word so that it becomes a part of our very being, moulding our character, coloring our thoughts and directing our conduct.

II. DIVINE GUIDANCE (Prov. 3:5-6)
1. The Need — The longer we live the more we feel the profound mysteries that touch us on every side. Many avenues are open to us, and many claims are made upon us. Without God's help we are helpless to choose and follow the right.

Our ignorance of the future enlarges our need. Like Columbus, we set our sails to cross unknown seas. We plan for the future not knowing what a day may bring forth. We live in the future, yet the future is hidden from us. My!

CONCLUSION — The heart is the storehouse of memory. Our character and our destiny are moulded and determined by what we store up in the treasure-house of the mind. By these we are directed on the path of light to eternal glory, or on the path of darkness to eternal death. On which path are you?
